HUMANITARIAN CITIZENSHIP, DISPLACEMENT, AND PRECARITY IN GREECE
Thursday, Sept 27th
7pm
in
CAS Event Center,
25 Park Place
Room 223

Heath Cabot is a political and legal anthropologist whose research examines citizenship, ethics, and rights in Europe, with a focus on Greece. Cabot will discuss the overlapping economic and refugee "crises" in Greece. Specifically, how responses to these events have lead to the emergence of "humanitarian citizenship" on Europe's margins replacing both the social rights reserved for citizens and the human rights reserved for refugees with humanitarian logics and sentiments.
